FINDINGS, CONCLUSIONS, AND RECOMMENDATION OF THE UNITED STATES MAGISTRATE JUDGE

Pursuant to the provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 636(b) and an Order of the Court in implementation thereof, subject cause has previously been referred to the United States Magistrate Judge. The findings, conclusions, and recommendation of the Magistrate Judge are as follows:

I. BACKGROUND

Petitioner, an inmate currently incarcerated in Texas Department of Criminal Justice - Correctional Institutions Division (TDCJ-CID), filed the instant petition for writ of habeas corpus pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2254 to challenge his Dallas County conviction for delivery of a controlled substance, in Cause No. F93-60937-I in the Criminal District Court No. 2 of Dallas County, Texas. Respondent is Nathaniel Quarterman, Director of TDCJ-CID.

According to petitioner, he entered a plea of guilty to delivery of a controlled substance and was sentenced on November 3, 1993, to 25 years' incarceration. Petitioner did not file an appeal. On February 24, 2006, petitioner filed a state habeas application, and it was denied by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals on December 13, 2006.

Petitioner filed the instant petition on December 5, 2007, when he placed it in the prison mail system. See Coleman v. Johnson, 184 F.3d 398, 401 (5th Cir. 1999) (recognizing that prisoners file their federal pleadings when they place them in the prison mail system).

Petitioner alleges ineffective assistance of counsel, prosecutorial misconduct, and a failure by the state to prove the necessary facts to punish him as a habitual criminal.

II. STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS

Congress enacted the Antiterrorism and Effective Death Penalty Act of 1996 (AEDPA), Pub. L. 104-132, 110 Stat. 1217, on April 24, 1996. Title I of the Act applies to all federal petitions for habeas corpus filed on or after its effective date. Lindh v. Murphy, 521 U.S. 320, 326 (1997). Because petitioner filed the instant petition after its effective date, the Act applies to his petition.

Title I of the Act substantially changed the way federal courts handle habeas corpus actions. One of the major changes is a one-year statute of limitations. See 28 U.S.C. § 2244(d)(1). The one-year period is calculated from the latest of either (A) the date on which the judgment of conviction became final; (B) the date on which an impediment to filing an application created by State action in violation of the Constitution or laws of the United States is removed, if the applicant was prevented from filing by such State action; (C) the date on which the Supreme Court initially recognizes a new constitutional right and makes the right retroactively applicable to cases on collateral review; or (D) the date on which the facts supporting the claim became known or could have become known through the exercise of due diligence. See id. § 2244(d)(1)(A)-(D).

Petitioner has alleged no state-created impediment under subparagraph (B) that prevented him from filing his federal petition. Nor does he base his petition on any new constitutional right under subparagraph (C). Further, petitioner has failed to present any argument that he should be permitted to proceed under subparagraph (D). Thus, as § 2244(d)(1) relates to this case, the Court will calculate the one-year statute of limitations from the date petitioner's conviction became final.

In this case, petitioner did not appeal his conviction; therefore, his state conviction became final on December 3, 1993, thirty (30) days after his judgment of conviction. “If the conviction does not become final by the conclusion of direct review, it becomes final by ‘the expiration of the time for seeking such review.’” Roberts v. Cockrell, 319 F.3d 690, 694 (5th Cir. 2003) (quoting § 2244(d)(1)(A)); Foreman v. Dretke, 383 F.3d 336, 338 (5th Cir. 2004) (“limitations period began running . . . when time to appeal ran out”); Tex. R. App. P. 26.2(a) (a defendant has 30 days after the date his sentence is imposed in which to file a notice of appeal).

Because petitioner filed his petition more than one year after his conviction became final on December 3, 1993, a literal application of § 2244(d)(1) renders his December 5, 2007 filing untimely.

III. TOLLING

The AEDPA expressly and unequivocally provides that “[t]he time during which a properly filed application for State post-conviction or other collateral review with respect to the pertinent judgment or claim is pending shall not be counted toward any period of limitation under this subsection.” 28 U.S.C. § 2244(d)(2) (emphasis added). Thus, the clear language of § 2244(d)(2) mandates that petitioner's time calculation be tolled during the period in which his state habeas application was pending before the Texas state courts. See also Henderson v. Johnson, 1 F. Supp. 2d 650, 652 (N.D. Tex. 1998) (holding that the filing of a state habeas application stops the one-year period until ruling on state application).

When petitioner filed his state petition on February 24, 2006, the statutory limitations period had already expired. Accordingly, the statutory tolling provision does not save petitioner's December 5, 2007 federal petition. In addition, nothing in the petition indicates that rare and exceptional circumstances warrant equitable tolling. See Scott v. Johnson, 227 F.3d 260, 263 (5th Cir. 2000) (recognizing that statute of limitations is subject to equitable tolling); Henderson v. Johnson, 1 F. Supp. 2d 650, 654 (N.D. Tex. 1998) (same).

Because neither statutory nor equitable tolling save petitioner's December 5, 2007 filing, his federal habeas petition was filed outside the statutory period of limitations and should be deemed untimely.

III. EVIDENTIARY HEARING

Based upon the information before the Court, the instant action is untimely and an evidentiary hearing appears unnecessary.

IV. RECOMMENDATION

For the foregoing reasons, the undersigned Magistrate Judge RECOMMENDS that the Court find the request for habeas corpus relief brought pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2254 barred by statute of limitations and DENY it with prejudice.

SIGNED this 4th day of March, 2008.
